ACADEMIC AND COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENTS.

Within the last few years the Institution has materially increased its instruction in these departments, so that it now offers excellent facilities to those who wish to prepare themselves for business. Instruction is now given in the following branches: Mathematics (Arithmetic, Algebra, Geometry, and Trigonometry), English (Reading, Grammar, Rhetoric, Orthoepey, and Literature), German, Latin, History, Constitution, Political Economy, Geography, Physical Geography, Chemistry, Physics, Physiology, Bookkeeping (two courses) and Commercial Correspondence, Commercial Law, Typewriting (two courses), Shorthand (two courses), Drawing, Penmanship, and Religion.

The Northwestern University

comprises the following Departments of study:

The Collegiate Department, the Preparatory Department, and the Academic Department including the Commercial Course.

The Collegiate Department offers its students a thorough course in the classical languages and literatures. The English and German languages are the media of instruction, the course being so arranged as to give the students a complete mastery of both. Together with these, moral and intellectual sciences, natural sciences, and mathematics receive careful attention.

The Preparatory Department admits, at its close, into the Collegiate Department.

The course of the Academic Department embraces not only the studies pursued in business colleges, but also the branches preparatory to the higher studies of engineering, etc.

The institution was founded by the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Wisconsin in the year 1865. It is situated on the Rock river in the city of Watertown, Wisconsin. Its buildings, erected on an elevation and overlooking the city, have a commanding aspect. The buildings consist of a recitation hall; a dormitory, affording accommodations for about 100 students; a refectory, which also contains the sick-rooms and a few private rooms; and a gymnasium. The recitation hall is heated by steam, the other buildings by hot water; all buildings are supplied with modern improvements and lit by electricity or gas.

GYMNASTICS.

A society for gymnastic exercises is organized, and instruction in gymnastics is given during the autumn and winter terms in the spacious gymnasium erected for that purpose.

A military company, under the command of a competent officer, affords an excellent opportunity for exercise and physical development.

MUSIC.

Vocal and instrumental music are extensively studied and practiced. A brass band and an orchestra are in a flourishing condition.

A pedal organ and several pianos are at the disposal of the students for a small consideration.

LIBRARY AND APPARATUS.

The Institution possesses a library of standard works, which is increased from year to year with moneys appropriated for that purpose, and by donations from friends of the School. It now comprises 4718 volumes. The students maintain a reading room, where they have an opportunity of reading numerous papers and periodicals both in English and German. They also have access to the more important works of reference.

The necessary apparatus for the illustration of history, geography, and the sciences have been procured, and additions are made annually.

COLLEGE PAPER.

The students publish a monthly journal called The Black and Red, which appears on the 15th of every month during the scholastic year. Subscriptions (50 cents per annum) will be received by Mr. Richard O. Buerger.

DISCIPLINE.

As the Institution is under the control of, and sustained by, the Lutheran Synod of Wisconsin, it is understood that in it the Word of God is to rule supreme and that also the discipline of the school is to be shaped in accordance with this norm.

EXAMINATIONS.

The classes are required to take thorough examinations at frequent intervals in the different branches pursued. At the close of the first and third terms reports are sent to the parents or guardians. The final examinations of the Senior Class are held during the week immediately preceding the Commencement Exercises.

Students wishing to enter the Freshman Class are required to pass an examination in studies equivalent to those pursued in the Preparatory Department.

Students wishing to enter higher classes must pass a thorough examination in the studies pursued by the class or their equivalent.

Students that have failed in, or have been absent from, examinations will be required to pass a full and satisfactory examination before they re-enter the Class.

EXPENSES.

The school year is divided into three terms, the first of which is of sixteen, the second and third each of twelve weeks' duration.

Students from congregations of the Ev.-Lutheran Synodical Conference of North America receive board at $30 the first term, and $25 the second and third terms. Special terms are offered to such as intend to prepare for the ministry or for teaching within the above-named synod.

All term-bills must be paid within four weeks after the beginning of the term.

Students from abroad whose parents or guardians wish them to stay with private families can be accomodated at from $40 to $60 per term; but in such cases the institution declines all responsibility for a student except during the recitations.

Every student is held responsible for the furniture that he uses, and the cost of repairing any damage thereto will be charged to him. In case of injury to the buildings or to any of the furniture, apparatus or other property of the Institution the damage is charged to the student or students known to be immediately concerned ; but if the persons that caused the damage are unknown, the cost of repairing the same is assessed equally upon all the students of the school.

Each student is required to deposit annually on entering $1.00 to pay for any injury done by him to the property of the institution. This money will be refunded if the student does not destroy anything.

ADMISSION.

Every applicant for admission must submit to the President satisfactory testimonials of good moral character; and students coming from another college must present certificates of honorable dismissal from the institution where they pursued their studies.

To secure rooms, application for admission for the next scholastic year should be made as early as possible, personally or by letter, to the President.

ACADEMIC AND COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENTS.

Within the last few years the Institution has materially increased its instruction in these departments, so that it now offers excellent facilities to those who wish to prepare themselves for business. Instruction is now given in the following branches: Mathematics (Arithmetic, Algebra, Geometry, and Trigonometry), English (Reading, Grammar, Rhetoric, Orthoepey, and Literature), German, Latin, History, Constitution, Political Economy, Geography, Physical Geography, Chemistry, Physics, Physiology, Bookkeeping (two courses) and Commercial Correspondence, Commercial Law, Type-writing (two courses), Shorthand (two courses), Drawing, Penmanship, and Religion.

THE COLLEGE OF The Northwestern University

comprises the following Departments of study:

The Collegiate Department, the Preparatory Department, and the Academic Department including the Commercial Course.

The Collegiate Department offers its students a thorough course in the classical languages and literatures. The English and German languages are the media of instruction, the course being so arranged as to give the students a complete mastery of both. Together with these, moral and intellectual sciences, natural sciences, and mathematics receive careful attention.

The course of the Academic Department embraces not only the studies pursued in business colleges, but also the branches preparatory to the higher studies of engineering, etc.

The institution was founded by the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Wisconsin in the year 1865. It is situated on the Rock river in the city of Watertown, Wisconsin. Its buildings, erected on an elevation and overlooking the city, have a commanding aspect. The buildings consist of a recitation hall; a dormitory, affording accommodations for about 100 students; a refectory, which also contains the sick-rooms and a few private rooms; and a gymnasium. The recitation hall is heated by steam, the other buildings by hot water; all buildings are supplied with modern improvements and lit by electricity or gas.

GYMNASTICS.

A society for gymnastic exercises is organized, and instruction in gymnastics is given during the autumn and winter terms in the spacious gymnasium erected for that purpose.

A military company, under the command of a competent officer, affords an excellent opportunity for exercise and physical development.

MUSIC.

Vocal and instrumental music are extensively studied and practiced. A brass band and an orchestra are in a flourishing condition. During the last term the students have received instructions from Prof. Salbach in singing.

A pedal organ and several pianos are at the disposal of the students for a small consideration.

LIBRARY AND APPARATUS.

The Institution possesses a library of standard works, which is increased from year to year with moneys appropriated for that purpose, and by donations from friends of the School. It now comprises 5034 volumes that are entered, and about 1000 volumes that have not yet been catalogued. Among the gifts of last year especial mention must be made of the bequest of Lieut.-Gov. Hoffmann, which includes valuable works in history and literature. The students maintain a reading room, where they have an opportunity of reading numerous papers and periodicals both in English and German. They also have access to the more important works of reference.

The necessary apparatus for the illustration of history, geography, and the sciences have been procured, and additions are made annually.

COLLEGE PAPER.

The students publish a monthly journal called The Black and Red, which appears on the 15th of every month during the scholastic year. Subscriptions (50 cents per annum) will be received by Mr. Fr. Kosanke.

DISCIPLINE.

As the Institution is under the control of, and sustained by, the Lutheran Synod of Wisconsin, it is understood that in it the Word of God is to rule supreme and that also the discipline of the school is to be shaped in accordance with this norm.

EXAMINATIONS.

The classes are required to take thorough examinations at frequent intervals in the different branches pursued. About January the 30th and at the close of the third term reports are sent to the parents or guardians. The final examinations of the Senior Class are held during the week immediately preceding the Commencement Exercises.

Students wishing to enter the Freshman Class are required to pass an examination in studies equivalent to those pursued in the Preparatory Department.

Students wishing to enter higher classes must pass a thorough examination in the studies pursued by the class or their equivalent.

Students that have failed in, or have been absent from, examinations will be required to pass a full and satisfactory examination before they re-enter the Class.

EXPENSES.

The school year is divided into three terms, the first of which is of sixteen, the second and third each of twelve weeks' duration.

Students from congregations of the Ev.-Lutheran Synodical Conference of North America receive board at $30 the first term, and $25 the second and third terms. Special terms are offered to such as intend to prepare for the ministry or for teaching within the above-named synod.

All term-bills must be paid within four weeks after the beginning of the term.

Students from abroad whose parents or guardians wish them to stay with private families can be accomodated at from $40 to $60 per term; but in such cases the institution declines all responsibility for a student except during the recitations.

Every student is held responsible for the furniture that he uses, and the cost of repairing any damage thereto will be charged to him. In case of injury to the buildings or to any of the furniture, apparatus or other property of the Institution the damage is charged to the student or students known to be immediately concerned; but if the persons that caused the damage are unknown, the cost of repairing the same is assessed equally upon all the students of the school.

Each student is required to deposit annually on entering $1.00 to pay for any injury done by him to the property of the institution. This money will be refunded if the student does not destroy anything.

ADMISSION.

Every applicant for admission must submit to the President satisfactory testimonials of good moral character; and students coming from another college must present certificates of honorable dismissal from the institution where they pursued their studies.

To secure rooms, application for admission for the next scholastic year should be made as early as possible, personally or by letter, to the President.
